Day 2: Hong Kong.

The best way to discover this hypnotic city is on foot. Start at the elegant St John's Cathedral. This beautiful church may look out of place among some of the most cutting edge high-rise buildings in the world, but it has played a symbolic and enduring role in Hong Kong's history. Head to the HSBC Building in Queen's Square, headquarters of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation. Count your blessings with a visit to the historic Man Mo Temple, a Taoist Temple dedicated to the gods of literature and war. Move to Hollywood Road and rummage through the myriad antique shops and markets, where you can find everything from Ming Dynasty furniture and lotus lamps to Mao badges and ancient snuff bottles. See the site where the British planted their flag in 1842 before continuing to the Mid-Levels Escalator, the world's longest moving walkway. It runs downhill until 9.30am, then turns around to run uphill for the rest of the day. Stroll to Tai Kwun, built in 1923 and the last surviving pre-World War II building in Pedder Street. Create your own map this afternoon. Perhaps hop on the Star Ferry, visit the Nan Lian garden at Chi Lin Nunnery, browse the Temple Street Night Market or be mesmerised by the famous "Symphony of Lights", a laser show decorating the island's skyscrapers.
