Itinerary

Day 1: Arrive Hanoi

Arrive in the elegant Vietnamese capital, greeted by A&K's fast track services and transfer to your iconic hotel.

Hotel de l'Opera Hanoi

Day 2: Hanoi

Spend your morning experiencing the many sides to this enthralling city. Begin your tour at the mausoleum of Vietnam's revered revolutionary leader, Ho Chi Minh. Linger over the iconic One Pillar Pagoda, then, visit Hoa Lo Prison, used to detain political prisoners of the French and later nicknamed "Hanoi Hilton" by prisoners of the Vietnam War. Most of the buildings here were demolished in the 1990s, but the gatehouse remains open for visitors.

After lunch, stroll through the complex of atmospheric halls, pavilions and courtyards of the Temple of Literature, Vietnam's first university. Afterwards, take a cyclo (bicycle rickshaw) into the Old Quarter to explore its network of narrow, 15th century streets. Each street bears a name that reflects the business once conducted there, such as Silk Street, Rice Street, Paper Street and Jeweler's Street.

Next stop is the beautiful Hoan Kiem Lake, or "Lake of the Returned Sword" and Ngoc Son, a temple dedicated to Tran Hung Dao who defeated Mongolian troops on three unique occasions in the 13th century.

Day 3: Design Your Day Hanoi

Today, choose how to enhance your experience of Hanoi.

Join your private guide for a locals-only half day immersion in Hanoi's food culture. Your degustation begins in the labyrinthine streets and alleyways of the Old Quarter, where street vendors reveal all the flavours of Vietnamese cuisine. Continue to Dong Xuan to discover first-hand how it earned the nickname "Food Street". Then, take a ride to Truc Bach Lake where a medley of meat-stuffed dumplings, sweet and savoury cakes, and spring rolls await. For dessert, surprise your tastebuds with cà phê trứng (egg coffee), a deliciously sweet Hanoi favourite invented here during a milk shortage in the 1940s.

Or, venture into ancient villages for a full day discovery of rural Vietnam. Begin at the elegant Moon Garden House in Ky Son village, before learning the secrets of traditional Vietnamese cuisine in a cooking class and devouring the fruits of your labour. Later, hop in the saddle for a guided cycling tour through the village. Navigate streets lined with ancient houses and take in the Mia Pagoda, which houses some 270 early Buddhist statues. Pedal on to Duong Lam, where centuries-old houses reveal an ancient way of life.

This evening, take to the busy Hanoi streets on the back of a Vespa for a culinary and cultural tour with a difference. Weave through the maze of streets and narrow passageways stopping at a market where locals busily collect fresh produce for their evening meal. Get a glimpse of neighbourhood life when you peer into tiny homes tucked away behind shopfronts. Sample local street food washed down with a cold brew, visit a local coffee shop and explore the waterfront locale of West Lake.

The one-hour flight is the fastest way to arrive at the picturesque bay and offers breathtaking aerial views along the way. Experience the thrill of landing on water as the seaplane makes its approach towards the marina.

Board your deluxe traditional Halong Bay junk and enjoy lunch as you drift over emerald waters past towering rocky outcrops, some more than 100 metres high. Venture south into the maze of Lan Ha Bay, the little-visited extension of Halong Bay to explore the interesting limestone formations at Dark and Bright Caves by bamboo boat or kayak. Then continue to Tra Bau where you can enjoy swimming in the pristine ocean waters. Back on board, enjoy a cooking demonstration before taking your place on the terrace deck to watch the sun sink behind the bay's myriad islands.

Day 5: Lan Ha Bay - Hanoi - Hoi An

Rise early for an optional Tai Chi class on the deck, or simply drink in the first rays touching the water. Afterwards, hop on a small bamboo boat rowed by locals, or paddle by yourself in a kayak through an endless sea of islands. Back on board, enjoy a leisurely brunch with more spectacular views as you drift back to port. Transfer to Noi Bai airport for the short flight south to Danang and transfer to the UNESCO World Heritage listed waterside town of Hoi An.

Day 6: Hoi An

Spend your morning at leisure. Later, take an afternoon walking tour to discover this charming historic town, a major south-east Asian trading post in the 16th and 17th centuries and now a living museum. Roam narrow cobbled lanes where Dutch and French colonial houses are squeezed between Chinese tea warehouses and Japanese temples – a clue to the town's mixed heritage. Inhale the aromas and flavours of Hoi An's lively market stalls. Step inside the Old House of Duc An and Fukia Assembly Hall. Marvel at the 400-year-old Japanese covered bridge – one of the few built outside Japan. After an afternoon wandering beneath the luminous lanterns, it's time to make your own. Join a local master in the studio and learn the traditional art of lantern making.

Join your guide for a tour of the town's markets bursting with tantalising fruits, spices, herbs, fish and noodles. Gain an insight into how ingredients are selected, and watch the chefs at work in their open kitchens to learn about creating various popular dishes such as banh mi (Vietnamese baguettes), dumplings, noodles and more. Sample some of the dishes as you walk through the stalls, and enjoy the opportunity to join local chefs and try your own hand at making local delicacies. Spend the afternoon at leisure.

Journey overland to Hue, the former Imperial capital of Vietnam. On arrival, step inside the beautiful garden house of Princess Ngoc Son, daughter of Emperor Dong Khanh. Admire the architectural beauty of one of the few remaining examples of a traditional family home during the imperial era. Lovingly preserved by descendants of the family, the residence is now in the hands of historian Phan Thuan An whose wife was Princess Ngoc Son's granddaughter.

Enjoy traditional Vietnamese hospitality as the historian or his daughter explains the nuances of Vietnamese culture and how the home was designed in accordance with the principles of feng shui. Marvel at the collection of antiques and personal mementos including old photographs, medals and furniture as well as valuable Ming Dynasty ceramics before savouring a moment of tranquillity while enjoying a meal in the peaceful garden.

Later, take in the Tomb of Khai Dinh, a fascinatingly strange combination of Vietnamese, Chinese and European styles.

Day 9: Hue

Unpeel the layers of this ancient imperial city today. Start at The Imperial Citadel, the seat of Nguyen Dynasty rule between 1802 and 1945. Lose yourself amongst over 100 fascinating buildings and structures that have miraculously survived years of conflict. Take a short drive through the rolling hills that encircle Hue, arriving at the serene tomb of the 'poet Emperor', Tu Duc, set in an elegant garden of pine trees and frangipanis.

Next, enjoy true Vietnamese hospitality in a unique home on the banks of the Huong River. Indulge in a private lunch within the walls of this traditional stone mansion, which stands proudly in a serene and expansive garden.

Day 11: Ho Chi Minh City

Skim along the Saigon River this morning on a private luxury speedboat passing mangroves and palm trees on your way to a small community northwest of Ho Chi Minh City and its famous wartime landmark – the Cu Chi tunnels. This incredible network of narrow tunnels was built during resistance to the French colonisation and used extensively throughout the war. Take a guided exploration of the complex network, discovering underground storage, make-shift hospitals and sleeping quarters.

Return to Ho Chi Minh City for lunch before a visit to the Reunification Palace where the official handover of power took place during the Fall of Saigon in 1975. Then choose between the History Museum or the War Remnants Museum. Built in 1929, the History Museum houses a collection of artefacts illustrating the evolution of Vietnamese culture since ancient times, while the War Remnants Museum contains an at-times grisly display of wartime photographs and relics including an American tank, an original 20th century French guillotine and a UH-1 "Huey" helicopter.

Finish the day on a peaceful note as you venture into Cao Dai Temple, to learn about a unique religion of Southern Vietnam, the result of a colourful range of several religious philosophies. Day 12: Design Your Day Ho Chi Minh City

Discover the best of Ho Chi Minh City with your choice of activities.

Cruise the Mekong Delta to Ben Tre, a province famous for its coconut production and tranquil network of crisscrossing rivers and canals. Take a xe loi (rickshaw) through the village and onwards to the Huu Phuoc Bridge. Embark on a boat trip through narrow waterways, stopping to watch locals use centuries-old brick-making methods. Then, hop on a bike to cycle through lush tropical scenery to a factory that produces famous Hu Tieu noodles. Take a short stroll to meet a local family and get a unique glimpse into their daily life.
