Day 2: Cape Town

Wake in 'the Cape', one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Rise early for the famed cable car to the summit of Table Mountain. Whether it is covered in a tablecloth of clouds or showing off against a crisp blue sky, Table Mountain is always spectacular. Your knowledgeable guide will deftly steer you away from the crowds to the best viewpoints, while revealing the fascinating history of the city. Next, chat to your guide about personalising your morning according to your interests. Perhaps wander the cobbled marketplace at Greenmarket Square, then explore the colourful 'freedom' houses of Bo-Kaap, to learn about the people and politics that have shaped the area.

Stop for tasty artisanal street foods before heading to Sea Point Promenade to admire the edgy and provocative art installations. Wander the Watershed Market to pick up handmade souvenirs and finish the day like a local with a bonbon and cheeky gin cocktail at a chocolate shop. Don't forget to visit the secret gin bar tucked behind it with your evening at leisure.

Explore the Cape Peninsula your way, with plenty of flexibility to suit your tastes and fitness levels. Take a walk through the bohemian fishing community of Kalk Bay, famous for its art galleries, brightly painted fishing boats and resident seals. You may like to walk among the penguins at Simon's Town or seek out a rogue splinter colony. If you're feeling energetic, perhaps take a hike inside the Table Mountain National Park, keeping your eyes peeled for ostrich, baboon, mountain zebra, bontebok and tortoise. Delight in deserted beaches strewn with ancient shipwrecks far from the usual tourist trail, before pausing for a gourmet picnic in a secluded wilderness location.

This afternoon, savour tasty treats at Noordhoek Farm Village, a thriving food hub where you can tuck into freshly made ice cream, artisanal treats, and aromatic java. Grab a bite and soak up the atmosphere. Then follow the 144 curves of Cape Town's most scenic road to a quiet spot where you can admire an extravagant African sunset.

Day 12: Okavango Delta

Join your bush pilot for a scenic helicopter ride over the wetlands to North Island Okavango safari camp, on its own private island. The flat plains submerged in water is stunning from above. Keep a lookout for large herds of buffalo no bigger than black ants, elephants and hippos in the water, and plenty of antelope.

Unlike most camps, North Island Okavango has water-based activities almost all year round. Surrounded by a mosaic of islands and channels, your tent sits peacefully in front of a hippo-filled lagoon, under the boughs of wild ebony trees. At night sit on the deck listening to bell frogs tinkle and watch as fireflies flit across the water. If it's cold, stargaze around a crackling firepit on the deck.

North Island Okavango / Meals: BLDDays 13-14: Okavango Delta

Spend two days exploring the Okavango Delta on foot, land and on water. Game drive through vast tracts of pristine wilderness in search of lion, leopard, cheetah, elephant, hippo and the rare sitatunga antelope. View the wildlife at eye level on a boat or traditional mokoro safari through the lily-filled channels. And tick off some of the Okavango specials from your bird-list — the slaty egret, Pel's fishing owl and the African skimmer to name a few.

Activities start early in the morning accompanied by a dawn chorus of wildlife. In the afternoon, after a traditional siesta, you may choose to cruise on an engine boat or in a mokoro, expertly punted by a skilled local poler. Mokoro silently glide through the waterways, allowing close-up views of a vast array of wetland birds.
