Itinerary

Day 1: Arrive Budapest

Arrive in Budapest, a city of two very different halves – Buda and Pest – bisected by the mighty Danube River. Merged only in 1873, Buda retains a distinctly regal air having served as the Hungarian capital for extended periods in the kingdom's history, while Pest is decidedly more vibrant, offering some of the city's best shopping, drinking and dining.

Check in to your hotel assisted by your A&K Guardian Angel.

Day 2: Budapest

Take in the sights of lively Pest today on a private tour, starting at the opulent Opera House, considered to be one of the finest of its kind in architectural style, decoration and quality of acoustics.

Admire the ornate onion domes that top the Moorish Revival-style Dohany Street Synagogue, home to a museum, cemetery and memorial dedicated to victims of the Holocaust.

See the vast Heroes' Square with its impressive Millennial Monument and St. Stephen's Basilica, the city's largest church. If time allows, you may choose to conclude the morning with a visit to the bustling market hall, offering a plethora of regional delicacies and crafts.

After lunch, wander the largest and most famous of Budapest's Christmas fairs, located in Vörösmarty Square. This festive market is known for its distinctly Hungarian atmosphere, offering a wide array of traditional food, crafts, and performances. Sample traditional Hungarian fare and sip on a warming mulled wine while perusing lovingly decorated stalls and soaking up the lively holiday ambience.

Day 3: Budapest

Unravel the city's royal past on the opposite bank of the Danube River in Buda, beginning with the sprawling palace that occupies the southern tip of the evocative Castle Hill district. Wander through the cobbled streets, witness to numerous Hungarian royal coronations over the centuries, whilst inside the grand Gothic-style Matthias Church, discover magnificent frescoes and stained glass windows by some of Hungary's greatest artists.

Later, drink in breathtaking panoramic views over Budapest from the terrace of the whimsical Fisherman's Bastion and from the top of Gellért Hill.

In the evening, there's the option (additional cost) of a private wine tasting at the historic Faust Wine Cellar, nestled within the labyrinth of medieval tunnels carved under Castle Hill. This enchanting stone cellar promises an evening of savouring some of Hungary's finest wines, a testament to the region's rich wine-making heritage.

Day 6: Vienna

Transfer by private vehicle to the exquisite Schönbrunn Palace for a taste of what summertime life was like for the Habsburg royals. Some of the Baroque splendours you'll uncover include the sumptuous personal apartments of Emperor Franz Joseph and Empress Elisabeth, as well as the lavishly gilded Hall of Mirrors, where a young Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart once performed for Maria Theresa when he was only 6 years old.

Outside, on the perfectly manicured, fountain-dotted grounds, immerse yourself in the timeless atmosphere of Schönbrunn's own Advent market. Rows of softly lit stalls selling quality handmade wares make this the perfect place to pick up handmade Christmas ornaments or tuck into central European Christmas delicacies such as kaiserschmarren, said to be a favourite of Emperor Franz Joseph.

Mandarin Oriental, Prague

Perched on the bank of the Vltava River, Mandarin Oriental Prague is a beautiful historic hotel hidden in the heart of the Czech capital. Located on one of the city's prettiest streets, Malá Strana, it is within walking distance of many of the main attractions, including the Old Town Square and Prague Castle. Having been built on the site of a former 14th century monastery, the Mandarin Oriental's interiors have spared the original period features and complemented them with contemporary design pieces. 79 rooms are spread across the Baroque, Renaissance and Spa Wing with each enjoying its own individual design as well as added luxury features such as goose down bedding, heated towel rails and interactive entertainment systems. Of the 20 elegant suites, our favourite has to be the Ludwig Moser Crystal Suite, located in the Baroque wing, it features crystal accessories and decorations designed by Moser - the Czech Republic's premier crystal manufacturer – as well as tall ceilings, a spacious living room, stone-clad bathroom and one of the largest grand corner bedrooms in the hotel. Views from both rooms and suites can overlook the castle, monastery gardens or city.

In the sophisticated setting of Spices Restaurant and Bar, you can enjoy a taste of the east with dishes such as Malaysian Jackfruit curry, Shumai steamed dumplings and freshwater catfish glazed in ginger. Alternatively, the lounge and terrace is perfect for light lunches, classic cocktails and al fresco dining. Spread over two floors, The Spa at Mandarin Oriental Prague offers three treatment rooms, spa suite with vitality pool, relaxing tea lounge and fitness centre with two saunas.

Why we like it

- Luxury hotel built on the site of a former 14th century monastery
- Located in the quiet streets of Mala Strana, close to Prague Castle, the Old Town Square and Wenceslas Square
- Historic character and contemporary design
- Outdoor terrace for al fresco dining
- Home to the world's only spa located in former Renaissance chapel
