Day 3: Hollyford Valley

Today your adventure starts in earnest, on the first leg of the renowned Hollyford Track. Encompassing almost 20 kilometres, it's a day well worth the effort as you are immersed in breathtaking rainforest scenes and a kaleidoscope of dappled greens, drink in ethereal alpine views and are left spellbound by crystal-clear rivers and sparkling waterfalls. As you walk, your guide will impart their knowledge of the local flora and fauna, and share stories of those who trekked before you.

Madeline, and amongst native forest at the confluence of the Hollyford and Pyke Rivers. Day 4: Hollyford Valley

A shorter day today, start your 15-kilometre journey with a short walk to Wāwāhi Waka (Lake Alabaster), and appreciate the serene lakeside beauty. On your return, stop at the infamous Pyke bridge – the longest swing bridge in Fiordland National Park.

Then it's time to give your boots a rest, skimming by jet boat down the Hollyford River and across Lake McKerrow to the podocarp forest, home to thousand-year old native giants. Continuing your journey on foot, ancient forests will give way to coastal havens as you seek out the local Fiordland crested penguin and New Zealand fur seal.

The last leg of your hike will deliver you to Martin's Bay Lodge. Blending into the natural panoramas, Martins Bay Lodge rests on the lowland flats close to the picturesque mouth of the Hollyford River.
